

CIVICS & THE JUDICIARY Teacher Institute

Join the John Marshall Center and the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit for Civics & the Judiciary, a free teacher institute for civics teachers. This full day program allows teachers a rare opportunity to interact directly with current judges, legal scholars, and civics experts!

Civics & the Judiciary begins at the Virginia Museum of History and Culture with an introduction to Civics Connects, a new classroom-ready resource for middle school students. JMC staff and legal scholars will discuss the intersection of civics education and the legal world.

In the afternoon, educators will tour the Lewis F. Powell Jr. U.S. Courthouse, and attend a panel discussion on the Constitution, its founding principles, and rule of law. Judge Barbara Milano Keenan will moderate a discussion between Judges Roger Gregory & John Gibney.
